MILLER TALKS TO HILL GROUP

Recipient of Honorary Degree Addresses Members Of Economics Club

Charles Addison Miller, recipient of an honorary Doctor of Laws degree here last year, addressed members of the Economics Club and of the faculty last Wednesday evening at the Psi Upsilon house, speaking on "The Social Side of Banking." The speaker devoted most of his time to reminiscences of a career in banking. He stated, in addition, that banking conditions ,especially in savings banks, were greatly improved since the World War.

"Friendly savings banks do everything for the people without cost, regardless of whether or not they are customers. The greatest banking improvements on the social side are the results of the establishing of free employment agencies and financial counsellors."

Mr. Miller began his short talk by giving a brief history of the savings bank, particularly the Mutual Savings Bank, with which company he is connected. He talked about his experiences at Albany, when he was concerned with the passing of legislation in respect to the investment of trust funds by the banks. He is the author of the New York State laws on "Investment of Trust Funds."

During the course of his talk, Mr. Miller mentioned that there has been only one attempt at bribery in the Legislature during the

Student Body To Meet On June 4

An important meeting of the Association for Undergraduate Activities has been called for Thursday morning, June 4. Chapel exercises will commence 10 minutes earlier than is customary in order to allow time for the considerable amount of business to be brought up.

At this meeting letters will be awarded for baseball, track, golf and tennis, and the managers for next year's sports and the new cheerleader will also be named.

McKINNEY PRIZE DEBATE TONIGHT

Seniors Excelling In Debate To Compete For Two Awards

The College Chapel will be the scene at eight o'clock tonight of the sixty-third annual McKinney Prize Debate. The subject this year, as announced by the Reading Committee, is, "Communionism vs. Capitalism." The debaters for Communism are Bresee, Meagher, and Redmond, while their opponents, Friedlander, Hutchinson, and Rayton, will uphold Capitalism.

Two prizes, one of fifty dollars and the other of twenty-five, are awarded by a committee of five alumni acting in the capacity of judges. These prizes are the income from a $1500 foundation, the donation of the late Charles McKinney, of Binghamton.

Those chosen for the debate are seniors whose records in public speaking courses taken on the Hill have been outstanding. Advance speeches are ten minutes in length, and rebuttals half that time. No notes may be used during advance speeches, and only notes made dur ing the debate may be used in rebuttal.

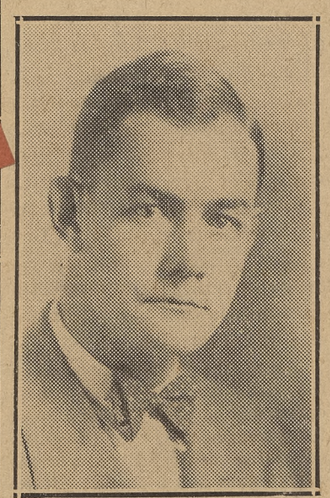
The judges are to be: S. Sheldon Judson, '08, Earl P. Watkin, '12, Arthur S. Pohl, '14, Batton D. Miller, '19, and John P. Gualtieri, '25.

Honorary Groups Will Induct Soon

With the close of the college year in view plans are being completed for the induction of new pledges by the Hamilton chapters of the national honorary fraternities, Delta Sigma Rho and Pi Delta Epsilon. At the annual spring tapping six men were pledged to Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic society, for their participation in intercollegiate debate. These men who will be inducted in the very near future are: Henry B. Hobart, Albert C. Redmond, and Latimore B. Senior, all '31, and Samuel J. Holt, John W. Howard, and John J. Walsh, all '32.

Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic fraternity, tapped eight men for membership in the organization as a reward for their work on various college publications. These pledges, who will be inducted at the close of final examinations, are: Jack W. Hummer, '32, John H. Mangan, '32, Donald M. Cunningham, '32, Clifford A. Lewis, '32, Douglas H. Batten, '32, Merle E. Schoepflin, '32, Howard C. Hosmer, '33, and Philip Schleit, '33.

Honored At Columbia



FREDERICK G. YEANDLE, '19

Frederick G. Yeandle, '19, was appointed Assistant Dean at Columbia University, Friday. After leaving Hamilton he attended Yale and received his master's degree there in 1922. He did further graduate work at Columbia and was given a doctor of philosophy degree by that institution.

THREE PLAYS PRESENTED IN COMMONS HALL

Dramatic Interpretation Class Gives Annual Performance

Members of the Dramatic Interpretation class under the direction of Professor Paul A. Fancher presented three one-act plays in the Hall of Commons Friday evening. They were much enjoyed by the small crowd of faculty and undergraduates which attended.

All three plays were of English origin, with settings laid in England. The best of the trio was "Augustus in Search of a Father". The lead was admirably played by William Sloane. This tells the story of a black sheep who returns to his native land and, quite by chance has a long talk with his father, who does not recognize him. Since the father still thinks his son is well and prospering in another land, the youth does not disillusion him, but leaves without revealing his identity. A distinct hit was made by John J. Walsh in the role of a policeman.

"The Thread of Scarlet" is a good mystery of the thriller variety. The ending gives a totally unforseen twist to the story. Good performances were given by Samuel Holt and Albert K. White. The playlet attempts to show the effects which a guilty conscience has upon a man's nerves.

"The Ghost of Jerry Bundler" was a ghost story which was ghostly only in spots. The performers seemed more sure of their parts than some of those in the other two plays. The waiter at the inn, as presented by Payne, was a good character.

BUFF AND BLUE NINE DEFEATS NIAGARA, 2--1

Last Frame Rally Ends Eight Inning Duel For Pitchers

LONG HIT COUNTS

Fay Scores Two Runs With Final Three Base Drive

After trailing the strong Niagara team for a full game, the Buff and Blue baseball nine won a spectacular and unexpected 2-1 ninth inning victory over the Western New Yorkers on the Steuben Field Friday afternoon. Douglass' superb pitching, aided by excellent support from the team, held the visitors to a single run, while Hamilton was unable to score until the final stanza, when a triple by Fay with the bases full brought three men in, although only two of the tallies appear on the official score, and Fay is credited with only a double, since but two runs were needed to win the game.

Niagara Scores In Second

The game early developed into a pitcher's duel, each team being able to get but six hits throughout. Niagara scored its lone run in the second inning. Stalkus singled to

NEWMAN CLUB HAS ANNUAL BREAKFAST

Utica Judge Addresses Hill Group; William Monacelli, '32, Chosen New President

At the annual Communion Breakfast of the Newman Club at the Clinton Lyceum Sunday morning, Judge John D. Buckley, of Utica, addressed the members present on the place of the Catholic in professional and educational circles, stressing the point that church men should carry their ideals out from their places of worship into their everyday life.

The Rev. Father McNeil, pastor of the St. Mary's Church of Clinton, also addressed the group on "Anglo-Saxon Culture" and discussed its relative significance.

William A. Monacelli, '32, vice-president of the organization during the past year, was elected to succeed Francis J. Crowley, '31, retiring president. Daniel J. Orcutt, '33, secretary-treasurer during the year, was chosen to succeed Monacelli, and William T. Noon, '34, was chosen as the new secretary-treasurer.

Annual Senior Ball Planned For June 12

The annual Senior Ball will be held in the Hall of Commons Friday evening, May 12, directly after the Charlatan's presentation of the "Pigeon". The price of the tickets, now on sale in the College Store and at the various fraternity houses, will be five dollars until a date to be announced when it will be raised to six dollars.

Dancing will begin at 11 o'clock and continue until 5 Saturday morning. "Billy" Shaw's Californians", nationally known road-band, will furnish the music. This orchestra, proclaimed one of the best to appear on the Hill, pllayed for the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity at the annual Spring House Party several weeks ago. It has also played at Union and other colleges. The dance committee is composed of David Fairchild, James R. Hughes, and Louis Marvin.

NEW MEMBERS OF PENTAGON ARE ELECTED

Seniors Tap Stone, Eames, Estabrook, Pritchard, and Gross

Climaxing the tapping of new members by the Hill honorary societies, the senior members of Pentagon chose five members of the Class of 1932 to succeed them, Sunday at the Kirkland Cottage. The men selected are N. Morey Eames, Charles S. Estabrook, Jr., Edward V. Gross, Walter H. Pritchard, and Benjamin J. Stone.

Both the present delegation and the newly elected Pentagon men joined in a banquet at the Fort Schuyler Club in Utica, Sunday evening. Pritchard was elected governor of the society and Estabrook was made recorder. President Frederick C. Ferry and others attended and gave short addresses.

Eames, a member of Sigma Phi fraternity, has been a member of the hockey team for two years and is captain-elect of the Hill sextet. He is a member of the track squad the Choir, and the Arts Club, and received a football letter in his sophomore year. He is a member of Was Los, D. T., and Quadrangle.

Estabrook, a member of the Chi Psi fraternity, has played varsity football two years and is a member of the track squad. He is also a member of Was Los and D. T.

Gross, a member of Emerson Literary Society, is editor-in-chief of Life, editor-in-chief of the 1932 "Hamiltonian", a member of the "Gaboon" board, a member of Press Board for two years, and a letterman in soccer. He is also a member of Pi Delta Epsilon.

Pritchard, Captain-elect in basketball, has been an outstanding

CONTINENTAL RUNNERS WIN CONFERENCE TITLE, LEADING ALFRED BY 20-POINT SCORE

Jones, Pritchard, Bellatty Star As Buff and Blue Captures Championship For Second Consecutive Year

Gliding on the crest of a huge wave of points, an invincible Buff and Blue squad rode to its second successive State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference track championship at the University of Rochester Saturday, outscoring its nearest rival by twenty points. Walter Pritchard, Hamilton crack distance star, earned himself a chance in the Intercollegiates by scoring easy victories in the mile and two mile runs.

PRITCHARD TO RUN IN N. C. A.

Buff and Blue Track Star To Compete In Chicago Intercollegiates

Walter Pritchard, '32, Buff and Blue star miler, will compete in the National Collegiate Association track and field championships at Chicago, June 5-6, officially representing Hamilton College. The trip has been made possible through the aid of Was Los the members of which are furnishing the necessary expense money in order that the Hill star may be given the opportunity to gain national recognition.

Pritchard ran one of the five fastest miles run in the East this season, on May 9, to defeat Aussicker, Union captain, in the time of 4:22.7, and it is expected that he can clip at least five seconds off this mark.

In this meet Pritchard will compete against the country's best milers since most of the leading colleges and universities have representatives entered. Southern California, favorite to retain the I. C. A. A. A. A. title at Penn Saturday will stop at Chicago to defend the championship it won last year and the other two California entrants, Stanford and the University of California, are expected to enter stars to compete against the best that the Big Ten, Big Six, and Central Association groups have to offer.

The final meeting of the History Club this year will be held at the home of Professor Milledge L. Bonham Friday evening at eight o'clock. The Reverend Father McNeil pastor of Saint Mary's Church in Clinton, will address the club. After the address the final business of the year will be transacted and the officers for next year will be elected. . . . . .

John Walsh Elected Head Of Charlatans

At a meeting of the Charlatans after Chapel Wednesday morning, officers nominated by the Executive Council for the year, were formally elected by the organization. John J. Walsh, '32, was chosen president and Robert L. Fay, '33, vice-president. Walsh, who succeeds John H. Jones, '31, has played important roles in the productions, "Copy", "Journey's End", "Inspector General," and "Pierre Pathelon". Fay has been cast in the "Inspector General," "Good Morning Professor," and "Journey's End". Both men have been chosen for roles in the commencement play, "The Pigeon". Walsh was recently pledged to Delta Sigma Rho and is a member of the Emerson Literary Society. Fay is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Pritchard Stars

Coach Winters' proteges grabbed seven firsts, four seconds, and six thirds to pile up a grand total of 84 1-2 points, easily outdistancing the second place Alfred outfit which scored 64 1-2 counters. St. Lawrence was third with 35 points, Rochester fourth with 21 1-2 and Hobart College, competing in its first conference track meet, last with 13 1-2.

"Walt" Pritchard, Buff and Blue ace, displayed his usual brilliant form to win easily in the mile and two mile, as he finished an undefeated season. Although Pritchard's mile was not as fast as in the Union meet this can be explained by the slow track and lack of competition.

Bellatty Wins

Kenneth Percy of St. Lawrence set a new conference record in the broad jump at 22 feet, which bettered the old record by 11 3-4 inches. George Harer of Hobart hung up a new mark in the high jump; soaring over the bar at 5 feet 11 5-8 inches. Percy starred at the meet, winning the 100 and

FIRE DAMAGES COLLEGE STORE

Loss Due To Blaze Sunday Evening Is Estimated At $2,500, $3,500

Fire of undetermined origin broke out in the College Store about 8:15 Sunday evening causing damage estimated to be between $2500 and $3500. The college fire-fighting apparatus was put into service for the second time this year, but when it was seen that unless the blaze was checked immediately, it would spread to the rest of the store, the Clinton Fire Department was called. However the fire was extinguished before the arrival of the town engines.

Two people passing by noticed smoke coming out of the store, which is located in the basement of the Soper Commons. Attempts to get in the building failed, and Superintendent Burton was called who ordered out the college equipment. No flames were evident until windows were broken and doors opened. It was then discovered that flames were sweeping through the store room in the rear of the store. When chemicals failed to have effect, a strong stream of water was put into play and the town firemen called.

The blaze was extinguished in about twenty minutes, but it was evident that the fire had been smoldering for many hours before that. Investigation showed that many books and supplies, and sporting equipment, including skates, golf clubs, and hockey sticks, were either damaged by water or fire. Only cement ceiling and walls kept the fire from going up to the front of the store.

Efforts Of Hamilton College Librarian Expected To Result In Establishment Of Intercollegiate Library League Soon

After a ten year attempt on the part of Joseph D. Ibbotson, Hamilton College librarian, to bring about the formation of a league of college and university libraries to cooperate in the exchange of important books, sufficient progress has been made as to predict that all details for such an association will be completed before the start of next semester.

The group of cooperating college and university libraries of central and western New York includes Cornell, Rochester, Syracuse, Grosvenor Library, used mainly by the University of Buffalo, Hobart, Colgate, and Hamilton. The third meeting of the librarians of these institutions was held last week at Cornell, and a plan was developed for cooperation in buying periodicals, serial publications, and costly works, which are of special importance to those interested in research.

To Include Beneficial Books

The purpose of this library league is to fill in the gaps in the holdings of the libraries in the group, in order than in this region there will be eventually all the materials for research which any members of the faculty or student body may need for their scholarly activities.

This union of libraries is not intended to include books which ought to be in any good college library, but rather to include less frequently used works which are used by faculty members, if they are to maintain interest in the field of their teaching and study.

Considerable Progress Made

All the librarians at the meeting last week agreed to adopt the most liberal policy of inter-library loans. Not only will books and periodicals be loaned from one library to another on request, but the current numbers of certain selected periodicals will be regularly sent from one library to any of the others which expresses a desire to receive them for the use of its readers.

Considerable progress has already been made in this matter. It has been decided that the Hamilton and Cornell libraries are to divide between them the entire field of philosophy—Classical, Romanic, Germanic, and English. Cornell, Rochester, and Syracuse are to care for Chemistry, while the Cornell, Hamilton and Grosvenor libraries are to cover as fully as possible the department of archaeology.

Six Attend Meeting

At the present time Hamilton subscribes to about 750 periodicals, about one-quarter of the amount which are needed to carry on the work here. By this plan, most of these books can be borrowed from libraries subscribing to these periodicals. Rochester, with a large fund with which to buy books, subscribes to approximately 600 medical journals alone, and Cornell has about 3500 periodicals on its shelves.

The meeting at Ithaca last week was attended by the following librarians: Otto Kinkelldey of Cornell, A. H. Shearer of the Grosvenor Library, Wharton Miller of Syracuse, Charles W. Spencer of Colgate, Donald B. Gilchrist of Rochester, and Mr. Ibbotson. Meetings have already been held at Rochester and Syracuse, and the next one is to be held here about the middle of July. Mr. Ibbotson expressed the hope that all the main lines of procedure and many of the details would be completed before next autumn.

The Trustees of Hamilton authorized Mr. Ibbotson last June to seek the cooperation of the other colleges and universities with the object of collecting the materials of scholarly research, and making them available to the Hill faculty and students.

College Browsing Room Closed Because Of Disappearance Of Books From Shelves

Because of the disappearance of several books from the shelves of the Browsing Room of the College Library the committee in charge has closed this new addition to the Library until the books are returned. The closing of the room is far from the wishes of the committee, but such a step was thought necessary in order to emphasize the responsibilities of the students in this connection.

The committee has refused to divulge the names of the missing books in fear of the possibility of drawing undesirable publicity to the men who have "misplaced" the volumes. It is hoped that the missing books will soon be returned so that the room may be opened again before the close of the present college year.

Since the opening of the Browsing Room in February it has become increasingly popular. At first the committee was undecided as to what course to follow regarding the room. It was suggested that the control of the room be intrusted to the Honor Court but this proposition was rejected as an unnecessary precaution, and the room was left without supervision, open to all students. Until the recent occurrence this plan had worked very satisfactorily.

Professor Laves Gives Explanation Of Possibilities Of An International Bank

In a letter to the editor of the New York "Times," published in the editorial section of that newspaper last Sunday, Professor Walter H. C. Laves, of the department of political science, set forth a thorough explanation of the broad possibilities of the international bank proposal by Montagu Norman, of the Bank of England. Professor Laves stated that the suggestion which Mr. Norman makes seems to have possibilities of great significance for the entire field of international relations.

"Mr. Norman's plan, as reported in the New York "Times" for April 22, contemplates the creation of a world bank with a capital of $500,000,000 to be subscribed by the central banks of the large nations and in part by the Bank for International Settlements. The function of this bank would be the granting of long-term credits to the governments of Eastern Europe and South America. The proposed institution would thus tend to equalize the distribution of the supply of free international capital by converting short-term money into long-term investments."

Professor Laves suggested that

THE LAST CHANCE

One of the many criticisms made of colleges today is that they are no longer compact groups of serious-minded youths bound together by a common purpose but that they have subscribed to the fraternity complex to so great a degree that they are now split into competing factions whose aim is the welfare of the individual group rather than of the college. Hamilton men may rationalize, they may point with justifiable pride to the record of Hamilton as a fraternity college, they may point to the love held for the college by many former students, but they cannot deny that it is the custom for fraternity men to think first of their group and second of their college in the majority of cases in which the interests of the two may conflict.

Perhaps the most outstanding example, however trivial, of this fact is the lack of interest shown by undergraduates in dances run by groups other than the fraternities. Each house will endorse and support to the utmost any function that house may hold. The same, however, can in no wise be said concerning an affair as the almost extinct Junior Prom. It is readily apparent that the tendency in more recent years to over-emphasize the fraternity has been accompanied by an increasing lack of interest in the old customs such as Sophomore Hop and many others.

Among the last of these tottering or fallen institutions is Senior Ball. This year it will be the swan song for one of the strongest and most versatile classes on the Hill in recent years. The class of 1931 has an excellent record, it is true, but it is found deficient in one respect, namely, that it has never held a dance as a class. It held no Sophomore Hop, no Junior Prom, but it will hold a Senior Ball. The committee has engaged an orchestra that has already been favorably received on the Hill, it has provided a more suitable place in which to hold the dance, but no machinery can function without fuel, no committee can run off a successful dance without the material aid of the group it represents. To the senior class is offered, in this year's Senior Ball, a last chance to make up for its deficiency in a matter that, despite its outward triviality, is indicative of an essential tendency of selfish disregard for the college, and to extend to the undergraduates as a whole their last chance in the College year to spend a very enjoyable evening. K. S. C., '31.

HONOR AMONG THIEVES

It takes all types to make a world. In the present day social system, the various types have been pretty well defined and localized. Cognizance has been taken of the tendency of different classes of people to show definite group tendencies. Water fronts are policed to curb crime and lawlessness, and the more respectably inclined residential sections to furnish protection. Hamilton, not without apparent justification, has placed itself well up in the latter category by substituting for police restriction of any sort the Honor System.

The small number of violations has apparently given the College ample cause to puff out its chest in pride. But perhaps this self commendation has been misplaced. The success of the Honor System, it seems, must be attributed to the certain amount of unintentianal supervision that exists rather than to any sense of honor among the undergraduates. The system, as applied to the Library, has in the past functioned with unqualified success. With its extension to include the use of the Browsing Room, where all manner of supervision, inadvertent or otherwise, is definitely removed, the Honor System within the span of a few months, has proved inadequate

True, certain of the purloined books have been returned, but not all. Perhaps the few recalcitrants fail to realize the lengths to which the effects of their action will extend. First and foremost in the eyes of the undergraduate body, which as a whole reveres and upholds the Honor System, these men have betrayed a trust in which more than merely they themselves are involved, and in so doing have held the entire College up to suspicion and contempt. As long as they remain unidentified, the blame and censure necessarily falls not upon individuals but upon Hamilton College. And let it not be supposed that news of the matter can be confined solely to the campus, for the Browsing Room has received considerable notice in newspapers in various parts of the country, and is the focus of much interested attention.

However there is another aspect of the situation which is a source of concern to the undergraduates as a whole, if not to the men directly concerned. The Browsing Room since its opening has proved a popular and valuable means to turn to account moments of leisure time. But in the nature of an experiment as the room was, there was no assurance before its completion that the undergraduates would respond with either respect or appreciation. In spite of this element of doubt and uncertainty, the donor of the room had sufficient faith in the student body to undertake the construction at no inconsiderable expense.

It is now three days since the room was closed, and this seems sufficient time for the return of any casually removed books. The continued withholding of several of them leads to the inevitable assumption that actual theft was intended.

It is to be hoped that the student body at large feels a greater and more sincere respect for the man who made the Browsing Room possible than the one or two individuals responsible for the present situation. A relatively small donation from each undergraduate would make possible the replacement of the missing books and would serve to indicate that the College is not entirely devoid of gratitude for and appreciation of the Browsing Room. If the student body as a whole must shoulder the suspicion, let it be shown that there is some honor among thieves.

ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT WRITES ARTICLE ON HAMILTON COLLEGE

Composes Record of Many Alumni Who Have Gained Fame In Literary World

Alexander Woollcott, '09, has expressed his full views on his Alma Mater in a recent article in "Vanity Fair" entitled "Why Elihu Root?" He characterizes the story as a "discourse on the rolling of logs and the sorry lot of ink-stained wretches."

After stating rather bluntly that his college is a little college, he goes on to say, "It is a remote, cloistered, uncommonly rustic academy called Hamilton, and I know no lovelier corner of America than its high, gracious campus, through the vistas of whose ancient elms and poplars the idling Sophomores look for 40 miles across the Oriskany Valley to the far, sunlit foothills of the Adirondacks." He claims that the only fly that the alumni find in the "rich ointment of their affection", is the irritation produced when men from "such wholesale factories as Harvard and Yale" ask: "Hamilton? Where is that?"

"I am not," he says, "referring to such intentional and elephantine slurs as those whereby Heywood Broun pretends to confuse Hamilton with what I assume to be another upstate college called, as I remember, Hobart." He refers instead to the ignorance of the average person and the ignorance of the newspapers in particular, who when referring to Hamilton "invariably identify Hamilton by the maddening phrase, 'the college where Elihu Root comes from'."

Although he admits that it is a fact, and a gratifying one, that Mr. Root is an alumnus, he blames him for that fact that he goes back to the college. He censures him for the reason that his brother, his father, and his son, were in the faculty, and that he himself is president of the "toiling and belabored trustees. "The Root homestead," he says, "looks out sleepily across the campus and has looked out across the campus since George III was the foolish king of a foolish England."

Saying that he really honors and reveres Elihu Root, he adds, "but after all, other men of ability have gone out into the world from Hamilton College. In particular many men have gone out into the world of beautiful letters." But he claims "You might think that the newspapers might make mention of the men of their own craft who have come down from the hill in various degrees of grace and disgrace." Then he mourns the fact that such a thing is not the practice with editors.

Prominent among literary men who have come from Hamilton, he points out, are Josh Billings, "the prankful Poughkeespie akshuneer"; Charles Dudley Warner; Chester Lord, once managing editor of "The Sun"; Samuel Hopkins Adams; Henry Kitchell Webster; Arthur Bullare, and Harry Dounce. "Then Ezra Pound, shifted after his freshman year from the chill, citified University of Pennsylvania to the blander groves of Hamilton." It was this Ezra Pound who although regarded a bit askance at Hamilton, became the height of fashion in poetry in Mayfair later.

CHANGES ANNOUNED IN CHARLATAN CAST

Thompson, Timko To Replace Symonds And Roehrick In Commencement Play

The cast for the annual Commencement play, "The Pigeon", which is to be given by the Charlatans on Friday evening, June 12, has been changed in four instances. The roles of Christopher Wellvyn and Ferrand, which were to be played by Charles S. Symonds, '31, and William G. Roehrick, '34, have been assigned to Harry L. Thompson, '33, and Michael J. Timko, '33. Robert L. Fay, '33, taking the place of Timko, will portray the part of the constable, and Waterman Baldwin, '33, will replace him as one of the Three Humble Men.

Symonds, who was cast for the lead in the production, has found that work incidental to graduation will prevent his acting, while Roehrick is recuperating in the Faxton Hospital where he has undergone an operation for acute appendicitis. Thompson, who succeeds Symonds in the role of Wellivyn, gave a fine performance as Lieutenant Osborne in "Journey's End." Timko was also a member of the cast of "Journey's End" and one of the directors of the freshman play, "The Ship Goes Down", which was awarded the Charlatan Cup in the interclass competition last week.

LAVES EXPLAINS BANK PROPOSITION

such an institution might be instrumental in averting a straining of international financial relations which are generally understood to have been a factor in bringing about the international political tension which preceded the World War. He went on to say of the Norman plant:

"The possibilities of the institution appear the more striking in the light of a proposal (New York Times, April 24, 1931) that the capital should come not merely from government central banks but also from large industrial groups such as General Electric or Kreuger & Toll. The new bank is apparently to borrow the funds itself and subsequently to reloan them to those in need of capital.

If the bank proposed by Mr. Norman were to be established, and if it were to aid in creating a more centralized system of control in international finance, a great step would have been taken toward bringing order out of a perplexing and chaotic international situation. It would, of course, be necessary to assure an international public control of the bank, else it might develop into a supernational monopoly of dangerous proportions.

FRESHMEN MEET ILION IN DEBATE

Moore, White, Noon Argue Soviet Russia Question Over Radio

A Hamilton debate team made up of Walter J. Moore, Howard B. White, and William T. Noon, all of '34, was defeated, 3-0, by the Ilion High School Alumni team in a radio debate held over Radio Station WIBX of Utica Saturday night. The proposition debated was: "Resolved, That the principles advocated by the Soviet Government are to the best interests of the Russian people." The Hamilton team upheld the affirmative side of the question.

Moore, the first speaker traced the past history of Russia and its effect on the people as well as on the government of the present. He advocated a Soviet government, not because it is a perfect government but because it is the best for the needs of the people.

Discusses Economic Issue

White, as the second speaker of the affirmative, took the religious and social issue. He brought out the point that Russia is not nearly so bad as it has been painted. In fact, it is showing an advance in its morality such that it is beyond many of the western nations in its morals.

The third Hamilton speaker, Noon, took the economic issue. He advocated the five year plan and showed how well it was working. The five year plan which was to end in 1933, if it continues to function as well as it has up to the present, will be completed in 1932.

Attack Religion

The first speaker of the negative attacked the question on the grounds that Soviet Russia was a despotism and that it was not representative. The religion of the Russians was attacked by the second negative speaker. He declared that a nation which repudiated its religion was incompetent and could not hope to take a place on the same level as the other nations. The economic side of the question was discussed by the last negative speech. The last speaker pointed out that even though the economic plan is succeeding its harms outweight its benefits because of the sacrifices which the people must make.

Faculty Members Attend Meeting

Seven members of the Hamilton College faculty represented the Hill Phi Beta Kappa group at the annual meeting of the Central New York Chapters of the society held at Colgate University Saturday.

Dr. Albert Perry Brigham, Professor Emeritus of geology at Colgate was the main speaker. His subject was, "Education for Peace." Following Dr. Brigham's address, the representatives from the various chapters reported the activities of their respective institutions.

The following colleges, all members of the Central New York Association were represented: Cornell, Hobart, Hamilton, Syracuse, and Colgate, as well as the Alumni chapters at Wells and Elmira. Hamilton delegates were: Professors Marsh, Dale, Chase, Bonham, Ristine, Fitch, and Brown.

FROSH DEFEAT CLINTON

Clinton's town baseball team was defeated, 6-7, Sunday afternoon by the freshmen team from the Hill. Gildersleeve pitched for the freshmen, who played good baseball to beat the firemen and other villagers playing for the town team.

The sophomores forfeited a game to the freshmen in the interclass mushball tournament because they failed to appear for their scheduled encounter last week.

CARPE DIEM

AN APOLOGY

Carpe wasn't in the paper last week and we think that you ought to know the reason. It was a great sacrifice to this commercial age. But Carpe has been thinking, and it seems that all our art is being sacrificed to our commercial machine age, and that was the case last week—Carpe vs. the Camel ad, and the Camel ad won. It will never happen again, though. You should have heard the protest from our English Literature department. We quote them separately: "Carpe's Swell," and "It Ain't Right to Leave Carpe Out," etc. Our fate is secure, fellers.

FIRE!

Well, here we are, talking over our second fire, and still we can't talk about the gym. We have several explanations to make. The fellow who set the fire thought that Commons Hall was the gym, and he was going to set the darn thing at the bottom.

The siren didn't ring because it was broken. Someone said that the gym was on fire, and it didn't take a minute to throw a wrench in the darn thing.

That wasn't a muzzle that Burton had on during the fire — that was a fire mask. Furthermore, Burton wasn't choking — he was trying to give orders.

P. S.: The gym is between North College and the Chapel.

Carpe has a very important announcement. Carpe is going to start a competition. Why not? Everyone else is doing it, and besides, it is the best way to get work done. It might be embarrassing for you to come up after Chapel so just hand in your contributions. (Try to get just one funny one).

* * * * * *

Time to start studying. Oh well, there will be lots of spare time because there won't be any home work to be done every night.

Bellatty ended the season in a blaze of glory as he captured a first in the low hurdles and finished second to Denman in the 440. Denman also captured a third in the 220. Ruland ran a nice race to finish third in the 100 behind Percy, the St. Lawrence star, who ran the century in ten flat. Corwin, Buff and Bllue captain, gained a fourth in the 100, and Rawson garnered a third in the half mile to round out the Continental quota of points in the track events.

Symonds Wins Javellin

Maynard Jones proved a successful member of the Hill squad with a victory in the shot put and a second in the discus. Further Buff and Biue points were gained by Estabrook and Ayres with a fourth and fifth respectively in the shotput and Ayres again by a third place in the discus.

Symonds was the only Hill representative to place in the javelin throw, but his first place in the event made up for any other deficiencies. Puglisi's tie for third in the broad jump and Jayne's deadlock for fourth in the high jump were the only Continental point winners in the jumps.

The pole vault was nearly a clean sweep for Hamilton with Kingsley's first, Jayne's tie for second, and Sprague's tie for third increasing the Buff and Blue score considerably.

MILLER TALKS TO HILL AUDIENCE

past few years, in an effort to get a banking law through. In this he sees that the banking conditions at the present time are not in as serious state as they formerly were, and that there is very little opportunity for corruption.

Mr. Miller mentioned as the greatest banking crisis in the state, the dramatic situation which existed at the outbreak of the World War, at which time most of the savings banks were insolvent. According to the speaker, an even greater financial depression than is now being experienced would have occurred if the banking leaders of the state had not intervened to aid the institutions. This was accomplished through the aid of J. P. Morgan and several other well known bankers.

M. Cayley Smith, president of the Economics Club, introduced the speaker. At the close of the meeting, a committee composed of Ingalls Fisher, Donald Cunningham and Enos Benedict was chosen to formulate plans for next year's meetings.

A son, James Phillips, was born Tuesday, May 19, to Mr .and Mrs. Robert F. Chrestensen of Franklinville, N. Y. Mr. Chrestensen, ex-'29, is a member of the Emerson Literary Society.

JUNIORS WIN SONG TROPHY

Class of 1932 Victorious In Seventh Annual Inter-Class Sing

The class of 1932 won the seventh annual inter-class singing contest and the loving cup, presented by Professor and Mrs. Paul A. Fancher, before the usual large gathering from Utica and the Hill, yesterday evening. Robert G. Phelps, '32, who directed the juniors, received the trophy from Professor A. P. Saunders. The class of 1933 won last year and the class of 1931 was victorious the two preceding years.

All the classes first sang the featured song, "Oh Hamilton", and then their two special songs. The seniors sang "In Those Dear Old College Days" and "We Come to Hang Our Banners". The winning juniors rendered "Fair Hamilton", while the sophomores gave "Bright Hamilton" and "Thy Sons Will Ne'er Forget Thee". The freshmen sang "Down, Down the Field" and "We're Here to Cheer"

While waiting for the judge's verdict, John H. Jones, '31, led the entire undergraduate body in singing "We Come to Hang Our Banners" and "Lord Jeffry Amherst". Afterwards all sang "Carissima". The band played several numbers during the program.

The judges were Professors A. P. Saunders, Paul A. Fancher, and Berrian R. Shute.

FACULTY COMPLETES COMMENCEMENT PLANS

golf matches will be played. The annual commencement meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held on June 12 for the purpose of approving the degrees and appointments to be offered. Later in the afternoon the McKinney prize declamation contests will take place. These contests will consist of the speeches of twelve men, four from each of the three lower classes.

"The Pigeon", a play by John Galsworthy, will be presented at 8:15 Friday night by the members of the Charlatans and two female members of the Utica Players who are assisting at the performance. The play includes a cast of sixteen of the Charlatans and has a plot and setting of unusual merit. Later in the evening the senior ball will occupy the center of interest for several hours.

Alumni To Meet

Saturday morning the annual meeting of the Alumni Association will take place in the Chapel. At this time Clinton Scollard will read his address as half century annalist. Since Scollard is well known for his literary works the address is expected to be especially interesting. At the same time Wallace B. Johnson, '15, will read the report of the necrologist. Elections will be held at this time according to the recommendations submitted by the nominating committee which was appointed at the last meeting of the trustees. The newly elected officers of the graduate body will be installed following the election.

Leaving the Chapel the members of the various classes will go to the Hall of Commons to hold their class reunions. From there they will procede to the Library where President and Mrs. Ferry will hold their reception which they accord the returning graduates every year.

President To Give Sermon

At 7:30 Saturday night the Clark Prize Speaking contest will take place. Declamations, which will be judged by the committee, and for which the prizes will be given at the commencement exercises, will be given by Francis J. Crowley, John H. Jones, Jefferson F. Meagher, Cayley Smith, Andrus B. Smith, and Charles Symonds.

The Baccalaureate Service at which Dr. Ferry will deliver the final Chapel sermon of the year will begin on Sunday morning, June 14, and the annual Choir recital will take place in the Chapel at five o'clock that afternoon.

Alumni Luncheon At Noon

On Monday morning the commencement procession, marshaled by Professor Fancher, will form at the Hall of Languages and will march to the Chapel arriving there at ten o'clock at which time the degrees and honors for the year will be awarded to the recipients.

Activities will be brought to a close with the Alumni Luncheon in the Hall of Commons at noon. Members of the class of 1931 and all previous classes are invited to this banquet. Recipients of honorary degrees will probably speak at this time.

THIRD ISSUE OF LIT TO APPEAR

Combs, '29, Contributes Essay Explaining Humanistic Movement Here

The third number of the Hamilton Literary Magazine will make its appearance on the Hill sometime before examinations . Many undergraduate writers will be represented, and, of these, three at least, prefer to remain anonymous.

This issue features an essay, by Paul V. Combs, '29, called "Humanism and the Younger Generation." Mr. Combs, who has spent a year at Harvard, has had excellent opportunities for hearing the theories of Irving Babbitt, the leader of the Humanist movement in this country.

The most important among the poetry contributions is a sonnet sequence called, "Per Aspera ad Astra." It is the work of a man who calls himself "Julian Fowler." It attempts to solve a deep philosophical problem in the symbolic manner of ultra-modern poetry. According to the editor, this sequence probably marks a great step in the literary development at Hamilton.

Another sequence, which consists of four sonnets, is by C. LaFayette Todd, '33. There is a poem by Henry H. Work, '33, and one in Negro dialect by John C. Homans, '34.

There will be two other anonymous articles. The first, "College Boys and Chorus Girls," promises to create nothing short of a sensation . The second is "Barney Steele at Millsap," a "gripping story of college life." It is of a humorous nature.

Jefferson F. Meagher, '31, has contributed a scholarly article on the subject, "Falstaff with the Critics." There is a study by John H. Wagenblass, '32, of the "Ptolemaic Astronomy of Paradise Lost." There will also be a short story by Wilmer E. Bresee, '31.

SPORTS COMMENT

(By Robert M. Diggs, '33)

Was Los, junior honorary society, for the second time in as many years, has done something which alone justifies its existence. After Chapel Monday, Morey Eames, on behalf of that organization, submitted to the student body a petition to the Executive Council, which authorizes "Walt" Pritchard to represent Hamilton at the National Intercollegiate Track Meet to be held in Chicago next month. The speaker stated that Was Los, in submitting the petition had agreed to stand the expenses of the trip . This is a good continuation of the work done by last year's active members in organizing the Varsity "H" Club.

The track team, by winning the Conference meet in driving rain, completed a most successful season, the results of which, along with the promise shown by several freshmen, would seem to prophesy an almost equally successful year next spring. The performance of Pritchard, Kingsley, Ruland and Bellatty have been especially noteworthy, and it is to be remembered that this quartet will all be back next year..

The baseball team again showed real ability in defeating a powerful Niagara team last week. Douglass, pitching his third game in a week's time, showed up well, allowing the visitors only six singles in the game, and Fay came through in the crucial moment to win the game by a hard drive well over the center fielder's head.

Hill Nine Will End Season With Union

Hamilton's diamond squad will end its season Saturday with the hardest game of the season. Union, Hill traditional foe, has had an unusually successful year, having scored victories over Manhattan, N. Y. U., C. C. N. Y., and Army. This is especially noteworthy in that C. C. N. Y. is the only team that has been able to gain a victory over Pratt.

Rochester is the only nine that has been able to subdue the Garnet, and the Yellowjackets themselves admit that their victory came as the result of exceptional pitching, the entire team playing over its head. Good breaks, coupled with weariness and over-confidence on the part of the Union team helped the Rochester team.

Harvey, who tore ligaments and pulled tendons in the Clarkson game, will probably be unable to see action in the game, and indications are that the same team which opposed Niagara, with Doug lass hurling, will start Saturday.

Captain Eggleston, Crowley, Rienzo, and Stevens are the seniors on the team for whom this game will mean the finale of their intercollegiate competition.

HILL BALL TEAM DEFEATS NIAGARA

right left and stole second. Zebley, next man up, singled to left. scoring Stalkus. Lipan was hit by the pitcher, and two stolen bases put men on second and third. Fay pulled Douglass out of his hole by making a beautiful catch of Cullinan's line drive. The inning was ended when Coffey struck out and Sneider grounded out to Eggleston.

In the last half of the same inning, the Continentals filled the bases when Rienzo hit through second base, Scarpitto sacrificed, and Fay and Ready were passed, but the team was unable to score when Douglass struck out and Stevens grounded out to second.

Crowley Out At Home

A single hit was insufficient to score for Niagara in the third, since it was followed by two ground balls to the infield. In the last half, Crowley reached first on Switzer's error, and was advanced on Ollikainen's sacrifice bunt. He gained third while Eggleston was being put out on a ground ball to short stop. Crowley attempted a daring steal home while the pitcher was holding the ball, but was caught as he left a fraction of a second before the wind-up started.

After making two assists on hard-hit balls in the first of the fourth, Ollikainen missed Cullinan's slow roller, but forced him out at second to retire the side when Coffey gave him his fourth try. Rienzo, Scarpitto, and Fay went out in 1-2-3 order in the last half of the inning.

Fay Drives In Two Runs

Stevens saved what probably would have been another run for Niagara in the fifth by making a beautiful catch of Sneider's hard-hit ball. He ran up the left field bank and slipped in the mud just as the ball was about to fall in his outstretched arms, but managed to hold on to the ball and convert the apparent double into a put-out.

The rest of the game until the last of the ninth was uneventful, each team getting only two men on base, a hit, and a walk. In the first of the final frame, Lipan grounded out, Ollikainen to Fay. Cullinan followed with a ground ball to Eggleston, and Douglass struck out Coffey for the final putout.

In the last half of the ninth, Ollikainen, first man up, drew a free pass to first base and advanced to second on Eggleston's single and over to third on Rienzo's hit. Scarpitto was retired on a fly ball and Fay scored Ollikainen and Eggleston to win the game for Hamilton.

The score:

Hill Tennis Quartet Downs St. Stephens

Playing its fourth match of the season, the Hill tennis team won a decisive victory over St. Stephens, 6-0, at Anandale, Friday afternoon. Although three of the singles matches went to three sets the Hamiltonians won all six contests.

Young, number one man for Hamilton, was not extended in beating Waeber, 6-4, 7-5. Although the scores indicate a close battle, Young had control of the situation throughout and was never headed. Captain Boeve, after losing the first set and trailing, 9-8, in the second, came from behind to defeat Kates, 1-6, 11-9, 6-4.

Kelsey, after being down one set and with the score 5-3 against him in the second, fought out a 3-6, 8-6, 6-4 victory over Jordan. Schleit came from behind to win after trailing, 4-2, in the third set. He defeated Foster, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

The Hillmen had little difficulty in annexing the doubles matches which followed. Captain Boeve and Young paired to take the measure of Waeber and Kates. Kelsey and Schleit defeated Jordon and Foster, 6-3, 6-4.

Intramural Track Meet Here Saturday

The Hamilton College track season will be brought to a fitting close Saturday by the annual Decoration Day interfraternity, interclass meet. Varsity men are ineligible to compete in the program which will contain all track and field events. The meet will be held in the morning so that it will not conflict with the baseball game with Union in the afternoon.

Competition between the fraternities should be stronger than usual this spring due to the uncovering of some very promising athletes in the class of 1934. Martin and Scobie, rivals in point scoring for the frosh in previous interclass meets, will have an opportunity to contest on opposing teams in the intercrowd competition.

At present the Emersonians hold possession of both the relay cup and the general all-around championship award, awarded to them in 1930.

Kennth J. Strully, '33, left for his home in Brooklyn on Monday, suffering from an attack of appendicitis. It marked the seventh case among Hill students this semester.

FEEL the difference
HEAR the difference
TASTE THE DIFFERENCE!

Like an oasis in the dusty desert of dried tobacco, the new Camel Humidor Pack brings you the delight of fine quality cigarettes in factory-fresh, mild condition.

Now, wherever you go, you can always be sure of getting a fresh, throat-easy cigarette when you demand Camels.

It's easy to tell the difference. Your sense of touch detects it as you roll a cigarette between your fingers. Dry tobacco is stiff and crumbly. Camels are full bodied and pliant.

Even your ear can tell the difference. For a dried-out cigarette crackles when you roll it.

But the real test is taste and taste is causing a great nation-wide switch of men and women alike to Camels in the scientific new Humidor Pack. As you draw in that fragrant, mild, cool smoke, redolent with the joy of choicest Turkish and mellow Domestic tobacco, only then do you realize the full importance of this new Humidor Pack.

For scorched or dried tobacco is brash and tasteless and its smoke is unkindly hot to the tongue and throat.

If you are already a Camel smoker you have noticed the improvement in this your favorite cigarette.

If you don't smoke Camels, try them for just one day to see how much you're missing. After you've known the mildness and delight of a really fresh cigarette, switch back if you can.

It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office
